President's Message

I attended a number of shows both in Virginia and in other states, and it appears that the paranoia regarding the COVID outbreak is beginning to lessen. Attendance at these shows has been good and collectors are hungry for the numismatic items they are looking for. I hope this continues thru the September convention and beyond.

Judy Merz, the VNA webmaster, has decided she is no longer able to continue as webmaster and for this reason, the VNA has a new webmaster, Anne Hooker, who is also secretary of the Richmond Coin Club. I want to thank her for stepping up to take over these duties, but I want to especially thank Judy for her past efforts and loyalty to the VNA and hope to see her at the various shows and meetings in the future.

I am working to find a speaker for the convention and hope to have this finalized soon. The VNA needs volunteers at the convention to help at the reception desk, to help dealers get to their tables, to help set up the hall and breakdown at the close of the show.

We need more educational exhibits, both judged for awards and non-judged, just for the enjoyment of attendees. The Educational Exhibits Committee, consisting of Peggy and Billy Hoovler, Moore Gouldman, and myself will attend VNA member clubs' monthly meetings in the near future to discuss development and set up of educational exhibits by the individual clubs whose efforts in the past have been exceptional. We hope this campaign will result in more club participation in exhibits at the convention. Separate award(s) will be presented for exhibits.

The VNA board held a meeting at the Tidewater Coin Club show in Virginia Beach at the Convention Center, on February 20, 2022, with another board meeting planned at the Richmond Coin Club Show at the ACCA Temple, in Richmond at 0730 AM on May 8, 2022. I hope to see many of you soon, stay safe and well. Thanks,

Parry Bragg - VNA President

Education Director's Message

The VNA held six hours of educational programs for adults and youth at the 62nd annual VNA convention last September, on topics including Early American Coins & Currency, Coins of the Bible, and Design Elements on U.S. Dollar Bills and Coins. We held an Open Q&A session with Quizzes, and a hosted a robust auction for youth with over 100 items for young numismatists.

Volunteer speakers included Tom Wood, Moore Gouldman III, Darrell Tyler, and John Philips. We had a total of 135 participants: 105 youth & 30 adults including 75 homeschoolers who attended our Friday program. We gave out over 3,500 coins through our Treasure Hunts, Kid's Auctions, and special educational programs.

Our special thanks for donated items including from the generous Richmond Coin Club and VNA members listed below:

Richard Schornak - Parry Bragg - Larry Rohr
David Armstrong - George Watson - Joe Riggs
Pete Weyrich - Sandy Ondishko - John Philips

John S. Philips – VNA Education Director

Editor's Corner

WARNING - VNA President Parry Bragg's email was hacked long ago and imposters are still sending bogus emails and text messages asking for help from VNA members to buy and send them gift cards. Please do not respond to any false electronic communications from Parry, who much prefers talking in person by telephone.

An Early Richmond Counterstamp

David E. Schenkman

One of my greatest frustrations when attempting to research nineteenth century merchants is the lack of information relating to their lives, and this is especially true of merchants in southern states. Such is the case with Robert McNamee, a Richmond, Virginia merchant who was born circa 1817, and evidently went into business during the late 1840s. The earliest newspaper advertisement I found for his surgical and dental instrument manufacturing business was in the November 24, 1848 issue of the Richmond Inquirer, where his address was given as No. 10, Governor Street.

A CARD.

ROBT. McNAMEE, manufacturer of SUR-GICAL & DENTAL INSTRUMENTS,
No. 10, Governor Street, has on hand several cases of Dissecting Instruments, of superior quality
N. B. All kinds of repairing done with neatness and dispatch. Oct. 25—d1f

The Butters' Richmond Directory for 1855 listed McNamee as a surgical and dental instrument manufacturer at 164 Main Street. The next year's directory gave the same occupation, with the location of his establishment as Main Street, between 10th and 11th Streets, and his residence as French Garden Hill.

According to James M. Edmonson, author of American Surgical Instruments; an Illustrated History of Their Manufacture and a Directory of Instrument Makers to 1900, a reference published in 1997, "the second instrument maker of Richmond in the antebellum era was Robert McNamee, who in 1850 advertised 'all kinds of instruments in his line made and repaired... a large stock of trusses, syringes, extra fine scarificators, cupping glasses, &c.'" Edmonson notes that by the late 1850s, McNamee was specializing in dental instruments. The last directory listing that mentions dental instruments is the 1860 edition; later editions only list him as a cutler. His Richmond residence was listed as 9th N. Leigh.

McNamee's 1851 Ad in Thomson's Mercantile & Professional Directory

McNamee issued counterstamped coins to advertise his business, listed in Virginia Tokens as R6820-M15. The only example I've encountered has "R McNAMEE / RICHD VA." on the obverse of a worn 1805 half dollar.

While it is not possible to establish when most counterstamps were made, in this case it is safe to assume that it was between the late 1840s and late 1850s.

Richmond Dispatch Advertisement of June 21, 1855

Robert McNamee died suddenly on September 8, 1869, at the age of fifty-two. Services were held the next day, at his home on Ninth Street, “just beyond M Street.” Later that month his widow, Francis, placed their five-room brick home up for auction. Described as being “very near to business and convenient in its arrangements, this property should attract those with limited means who are seeking a comfortable home at a modest cost.” Thanks to my good friend, Dr. Ben Swanson, who wrote the introduction to Edmonson’s book, for providing me with the pertinent information regarding McNamee.

Mottos on Regular Issue US Coins

Tom Kays

A Motto is a permanent slogan, catchword, tagline, short sentence or brief phrase chosen to encapsulate the aims, beliefs, principles, or ideals guiding an individual, family, or institution. The word “motto” comes from 16th century Italian, meaning “a word or legend attached to a heraldic design.” “Motto” is related to the English word “mutter” meaning to mumble. Such sayings come down to us from time immemorial such as “Do no harm” from the Hippocratic oath. The Marine Corps motto is Semper Fidelis. Apple Computer uses “Think Different.” Colonial Vermont missed out on being one of the original thirteen colonies and chose Stella quarta decima fulgeat (May the 14th star shine bright). Each State has its own motto. Adoption of new mottos tends to happen in uncertain times, especially when ideals need to be set in stone, before it might be too late for future generations to know just what a disappearing old institution truly stood for.

There seems to be no single rule about the use of mottos on U.S. coins. Creation of mottos sometimes happens by accident. A good motto must be concise, may elicit an emotional response, and often serves as a call to action (Just do it). Surprisingly, some regular issue United States coins had no motto at all. Mottos in English or Latin are sometimes added in the middle of a design series. Heraldic symbols, not in words, but as pictures also appear on U.S. coins including the personification of Liberty, Eagles (Ben Franklin wanted the turkey for its upstanding moral character compared to the scavenger eagle), Phrygian Slave Caps sometimes on poles, striped shields with shading lines that represent in monochrome the colors red, white, and blue to complete official United States heraldry.

Looking at long standing “regular issues” of the United States Mint we weed out temporary ‘special’ issues including all commemorative coins, that may have legends not for the entire United States but associated with each special event or state anniversary being commemorated. State mottos appearing on U.S. commemorative coins include “National Union – Sovereignty State,” “Dirigio,” “Here We Rest,” “Remember the Alamo,” “Hope,” and more sayings which may be long in sentiment but were quite temporary in use.

The Professional Coin Grading Service (PCGS) has reclassified the Fugio Cent as the first “regular-issue,” circulating Federal coin of the United States. Its mottos “Fugio,” (Time Flies) “Mind Your Business,” and “We Are One,” were only used on these coppers in 1787, with slogans attributed to Benjamin Franklin. “States United / United States,” may have started as a motto in 1787, but quickly became “United States (of America),” an institutional name, not a motto.

Fugio Cent of 1787 – Now deemed “regular issue” by PCGS

The 1792 half ‘dismes’ are also considered regular issue by PCGS. “Industry * Lib[erty] * Par[ent] of Science,” was only used in 1792 on these early half ‘dismes’ from John Harper’s Shop (he was a saw maker in Philadelphia).

Regular mint products were issued from the United States Mint from 1793 to today. While, regular issues of cents, nickels, dimes, and half dollars are still being produced, modern quarter dollars and “gold” dollar coins are no longer “regular issue,” having been invested by Congress with many special themes in commemoration of statehood, state parks, innovations, Native Americans and women of note. We will skip those short-lived designs.

1807 Half Dollar with LIBERTY and E PLURIBUS UNUM Mottos

“LIBERTY” was and still is used on most, (but not all) regular issue United States coins. Liberty may be hidden on hair ribbons, only to disappear after moderate wear. Many U.S. coins have only this one-word motto to suffice, including all copper half cents and large cents as well as the initial “Small Eagle reverse” design used on early silver and gold coins, starting in 1794. One-word motto “Liberty” coins resumed with Seated Liberty half dimes starting in 1837, Seated Liberty and Barber Dimes from 1837 to 1916, all 20-Cent Pieces, Bust and Seated Liberty Quarters from 1831 to 1866, Bust and Seated Liberty Half Dollars and Dollars from 1836 – 1866, all Gold Dollars, Quarter Eagles from 1834 to 1907, all three-dollar gold, Half Eagles from 1834 to 1866, Eagles from 1838 – 1866, and Double Eagles from 1849 to 1866.

“E PLURIBUS UNUM” (Out of many – One) often appears with Liberty, from 1797 – 2022, started as lettering on a ribbon held clenched in the eagle’s beak. It was used in the Great Seal of the United States and found its way onto Robert Scot’s Heraldic Reverse Designs starting on regular issue half eagles in 1797. (Note: “1795 back-dated” half eagles with the new E PLURIBUS UNUM reverse were not struck until 1798). Both “Liberty” and “E Pluribus Unum” regularly appear together on “Heraldic” and “Bust” designs from 1797 into the 1830s when “E Pluribus Unum” ceased, as Longacre’s Seated Liberty designs took root and “Liberty” was written on the obverse shield.

Left: 1864 Two Cent Piece (Large Motto on Ribbon) / Right: Saint-Gauden's Double Eagle Gold Design Without Motto (1907 – 1908) and With Motto added to orbit the surface of the sun below the sun's rays

“IN GOD WE TRUST” appears on U.S. coins since the Civil War but it was not adopted on U.S. currency until the Cold War in 1955, by President Eisenhower, to further distinguish ourselves from the Soviet Union which officially does not believe in any deity. This solemn saying seems most needed during times when uncertainty about the future runs high as it did in 1863 when it was first proposed (think of the high-water-mark of Gettysburg) and again when H-bomb testing by foreign powers decided a President, whose family roots came from a Gettysburg farm, that the motto must become universal on coins and currency, just in case, so that future antiquarians would know where we stood when the crises came.

Flying Eagle Cents and “Trimes” (Three Cent Silvers) are regular issue US coins that have no mottos at all.
