President's Message

The situation with the Covid virus is apparently lessening and worries of the past year seem to be lessening. On April 30th of this year, the Officers and Board members of the VNA had a meeting to discuss the future of the organization. We will hold our September 2021 Convention in Fredericksburg, Virginia. Richard Schornak, the bourse chairman for the convention, has been working hard to solicit dealers for the show and his efforts are working as we are receiving constant inquiries about the show and table applications. The dealers and numismatic public seem to be eager for a show. I am hoping to continue with the excellent exhibits as at the last convention, and with the numismatic lectures and youth activities as in the past. For the show and related activities to be a success we will need volunteers to help set up the hall, staff the reception table, help security and be able to help the dealers leave in an orderly fashion on Sunday afternoon. Despite lessening worry about the virus we will still be requiring some health screening restrictions depending on the Virginia Governor's orders.

A number of issues were discussed at the board meeting, including the formation of the Gerald Schmidt Memorial Education fund to honor the memory of Jerry Schmidt, a past officer of the VNA, author, long time coin dealer in the Richmond area and an authority on Asian numismatics. An anonymous individual has pledged to match donations dollar-for-dollar up to a total of $5000 by the end of September 2021. Please indicate “Gerald Schmidt Memorial” on your tax-deductible gift checks to the VNA, so we can take advantage of the matching funds. People like Jerry Schmidt will be impossible to replace. The VNA is still going strong but contributions to the club are still helpful for us to be in a good financial situation for the future, and all contributions are tax deductible.

My thoughts and prayers are extended to the recovery and continued health and activity in the VNA of members who are having medical issues: Charles Garber, Bill Scott, Ginny and Doug Bowers, and Moore Gouldman. We need you. Get well as soon as possible.

We also note the passing of a LIFE MEMBER, Dr. Donald Roberts of Roanoke, Virginia. Dr. Roberts passed away this summer. He was active in the VNA as was his father, who was at one time the Editor of The Virginia Numismatist. Our sympathies go out to his family at his passing.

I hope you are well and stay that way, and I hope to see many of our members at the convention and banquet in September.

Parry Bragg - VNA President

Please double check the status of all in-person Club Meetings and Coin Shows with their Points of Contact and visit www.vnaonline.org for last minute cancellations, changes in venue, and special health screening requirements for all events having in-person attendance.

Please beware email hackers are sending requests for gift cards in the names of Parry Bragg and Thomas Wood for various causes. Please be very cautious when dealing with email requests for help and do respond or send gift card information to their spurious return addresses.

The VNA is pleased to announce Mike Beall will speak at the dinner banquet during the 62nd Annual VNA Convention, Coin & Currency Show on Saturday, September 25, 2021. Mike is an expert collector of ancient coins who wrote "Being Wise about Owls" in the Winter 2020 edition of the Virginia Numismatist. Mike Beall currently co-hosts a YouTube video podcast series for Coin Week with Mike Markowitz titled "Talking Ancients."

This issue of The Virginia Numismatist is dedicated to the memory of James C. Ruerhmund, and his faithful collaborator, his schnauzer, Sofie. If you never met Jim, all who didn't missed out on meeting a real character. He was past President of the VNA, longtime editor of the Virginia Numismatist, past President of the Richmond Coin Club, recipient of the Krause Numismatic Ambassador award and ANA Presidents award in 2020. He collected everything and was knowledgeable about all of it. He was mentor to many, always ready to get together with anyone to talk or help with his vast knowledge. He was an expert on ancient coins, and he was a voracious collector of coins of Caesarea Cappadocia. His knowledge and attitude will never be replaced and so we want to dedicate this issue of the Virginia Numismatist to his, and his schnauzer's memory. I hope you all enjoy one of his most memorable articles from the past. - Parry Bragg

DOG DOLLARS

By Sophie S. Ruerhmund

Sophie

“It’s been quite a while (three years to be exact) since I last did an article for the magazine, and lately a number of my friends have asked when my next one would appear. The trouble was that nothing in the way of doggy numismatic subjects had turned up until recently, when I heard about coins called “Dog Dollars,” that circulated in Virginia back in the 1600s. Here was a subject I could really set my teeth in, so I immediately got busy researching it. I quickly learned, much to my disappointment, that the animal depicted on Dog Dollars isn't a dog at all, it's just another one of those stupid lions, but once I'd gotten into the subject there was no turning back.

1589 Dog Dollar [of Holland]

“Dog Dollar” was a 17th century Virginia slang name for the Dutch leeuwendaalder, or “lion dollar,” issued between 1575 and the [early 1700s] by the seven united provinces of the Dutch Republic [and three imperial cities]. As you can see from the illustration, the obverse has a man in armor, holding a shield with coat of arms on it. The reverse has a rampant lion, that looks more like an old English sheepdog. The coins were struck at a fineness of 0.870, and their silver content, about 23.95 grams, was equal to 4 shillings / 3 pence halfpenny in English money. The coins are rather crude; all were hammer struck, and little care was taken to make them perfectly round. In the 17th century the Dutch were daring and enterprising mariners and traders. The lion dollar was their standard trade coin, and they spread them all over the world. They were early visitors to the new English settlement at Jamestown in Virginia, and you may still remember that it was a Dutch ship that brought the first African slaves there in 1619. It wasn't long before the British banned foreign merchants from trading in their colonies. That didn't stop the Dutch; they merely shifted their activities to the Eastern Shore of Virginia. Separated from the rest of Virginia by the broad waters of the Chesapeake Bay, the people of Accomack County on the Eastern Shore did pretty much as they pleased and welcomed the arrival of Dutch ships at their plantation wharves. What the Dutchmen wanted was tobacco, and they paid for it in coin, a commodity that was always in short supply in colonial Virginia. This activity was, of course, smuggling, but the local authorities made no move to stop it, probably because they were also involved in it.

In this way lion dollars began to circulate on the Eastern Shore, but there was one small problem, no one knew exactly what they were worth in terms of English shillings and pence. The inhabitants of Accomack had been engaged in this trade for so long they had probably forgotten that it was illegal, and April 1, 1697, they submitted the following petition to the Virginia House of Burgesses:

The Greivance of the inhabitants of the Cou'ty of Accomack given unto their Burgesses at its Court House, &c, to be presented to the p'nt Assembly. Whereas dollars, commonly called Lyon or Dog dollars, have no vallue ascertained whereby they may pass currantly amongst the inhabitants of the county; wee, therefore, pray a Law may pass to ascertain at what value the said dollars may pass currantly from man to man, for ye better advancement of Trade & Commerce.

No record can be found of any action taken in response to this petition, and it's likely that none was taken. The planters of Accomack apparently didn't press the issue lest embarrassing questions be asked as to the source of their Dog Dollars. Once the trade with Holland ceased, the Dutch dollars disappeared from Virginia. They must have been shipped back to Europe in payment for imported goods. Even so, you might expect that at least a few would have stayed here, but as far as I've been able to determine, archeological digs, relic hunters and casual finds have never turned up a single one. It's possible of course, that a few may have been found and not recognized for what they were. If you know of any finds of Dog Dollars in Virginia, please inform the editor.

There you have the story of Dog dollars, as far as it's presently known. If you collect coins that circulated in colonial Virginia, you'll need one for your collection. Although not found here, they're not particularly rare, although they may be a little pricey. If you do a bit of sniffing around at the next show you go to, you'll probably find one. By now you're no doubt wondering how in the world a schnauzer, and a tiny one at that, could ever come up with an article like this. I'll have to admit that I did get some help from Jim, but don't forget that I have an extensive numismatic background, having been associated with it for ten years now, (my entire life). If there are any other numismatically inclined dogs out there who might care to do an article, Jim says please do; send it in and he'll be glad to print it."

Is this a “pride of lions” or a “pack of dogs?”

Current Editor's Update: “Leeuwen daalders” were authorized by six of the seven United Provinces of the Netherlands including Holland

(since 1575), and from Zeeland, Gelderland, Overijssel, Utrecht, and Frisia (since 1589). They were also struck by authority of imperial cities and regions including West Frisia, a part of Holland (since 1588), Zwolle (since 1633), Kampen (since 1637), Deventer (since 1640), Nijmegen, and Zutphen (early 1690s). Some are undated but most do have a date that may appear on either side. They stopped being issued by about 1713.

Both lion daalders and half lion daalders were made as trade coins intended for circulation in distant Dutch colonies round the world. American colonial coin collectors tend to favor earlier dates which would be correct for circulation in New Amsterdam (later New York). Counterfeits and modern imitations exist.

Two Half Lion Dollars compare with a full Lion Dollar

Lion Dollars have been found in shipwrecks including Piet Heyn's flagship, the Hollandia, that sank in 1627 in the Bay of All Saints, Brazil, and the HMS Feversham that sank off Nova Scotia in 1711. The HMS Feversham carried both full and half dog dollars. Only a few have been found in American coin hoards excavated in the United States in Maine, and as far south as New Jersey.

Nearly 25 years since good dog Sophie Ruehrmund barked her canine assessment of "Dog Dollars" to Jim, the digging up of dog dollars in Virginia still has not been reported to any subsequent editor.

WANTED
REWARD!

Have you seen this $20 Dollar note from the Bank of Pittsylvania, Chatham, VA? In Charles Affleck's book, Obsolete Paper Money of Virginia, Volume 2, this note is shown on page 50. Do you know what happen to the Charles Affleck collection? I'm working on a DVD about the history of paper money from 1690 to The Civil War. I will pay $100.00 for a good digital image of the note and permission to use it on the DVD. I appreciate any help; please call Wesley Smith at (501) 472-3800, if you receive a message leave a good time to return your call. Thank you and happy hunting.

WANTED: Military medals pertaining to the Civil War, Spanish-American War and Indian Wars. Need Federal, State, Local and Society medals. Charles Pfeiffer, 1401 Druid Road, Maitland, FL 32751 (407) 644-0085
