President's Message

The 63rd Annual VNA Convention and Collectibles Show is now past. From my perspective the show was a success with few problems. We had an increase in the number of visitors on both Friday and Saturday over last years' attendance. We had a great banquet speaker in Steve Ellsworth and his program. The exhibits were excellent, as in the past. I want to thank all the volunteers for their help, both before the show, during, and after. I especially want to thank Moore Gouldman, for supervising the exhibits and to Richard Schornak, as Bourse chairman, which is a thankless job. Thanks to John Philips and to the help he got with youth activities that were fantastic as always with excellent speakers and programs.

This year the VNA elected four new Board members: Steve Hagan, Doug Roberts, Jack Bell and Dieter Kaltz. Please congratulate them as the election was hard fought and robust. The next VNA Board meeting will be at the Annandale Show, at 07:30 AM on Sunday, December 11, 2022. We are already working on the show and convention for 2023.

I have been to several big and small shows since the convention with mixed results. High attendance does not translate to increased sales, as many are walking and talking but not buying. Education is paramount in this hobby, so talking is not bad, just I wish there was a middle ground.

I hope to see many of the VNA members at future club meetings and shows and I hope all have a safe and wonderful holiday season. Next year is going to be just as exciting as this one and probably more challenging.

Thanks.

Parry Bragg - VNA President

Editor's Corner

Congratulations to David E. Schenkman who won the VNA's inaugural James C. Ruehrmund Literary Award for Origins of a Virginia Five Cent Note published in the Winter 2021 Edition of The Virginia Numismatist. James Ruehrmund was a friend and mentor to Dave in years past.

In the last edition we highlighted videos from Coin Television by David Lisot. We are sad to report David Lisot passed away last month. He posted more than five-hundred videos for coin collectors with footage of numismatic shows, events, lectures, and gatherings from around the country that may still be viewed at CoinTelevision.com.

The American Numismatic Society (ANS) continues to produce many fine numismatic educational videos including “Money Talks” and a series of “Long Table” lectures that are released weekly, and available from the Web at <https://numismatics.org> “pocket change” archive which is organized by topics, with links to videos, blogs, and podcasts. See “Past Events” for a listing of lectures. You can also find some of the recent Long Table lectures on You Tube. ANS Members receive links to new videos as they are posted. The ANS holds nearly 600,000 objects in the Society’s collection including coins, paper money, tokens, “primitive money,” medals, and decorations. Object records (some with photos) can be searched by keyword and retrieved by <https://numismatics.org> “mantis” which is a Numismatic Technologies Integration Service. The North American Department holds 44,000 objects and is strong in Massachusetts silver, State coinages, large cents, Gobrecht dollars, proof gold, and Civil War tokens.

Education Report - 63rd VNA Convention

We held five hours of educational programs for both youth and adults at our 2022 VNA convention. Talk topics included: “Coins of the Bible,” “Design Elements on the U.S. Dollar Bill,” and “Everything British.” We conducted Open Q&A, Pop Quizzes, and held a robust Youth Auction with over 95 donated items. Speakers included Tom Wood and John Philips. We had a total of 130 participants with 95 youth and 35 adults including 60 homeschoolers who attended our Friday program, and 35 youth who attended our Saturday program. We again gave out over 3,500 coins through our Treasure Hunts, Kid’s auctions, and special educational programs. Special thanks for generous donated items from:

Richard Schornak – VNA, Parry Bragg - VNA & RCC, John Philips - VNA & RCC, George Watson – VNA, Joe Riggs – VNA, Ernie Parrish – VNA

Exhibits Report - 63rd VNA Convention

The Exhibits Committee is delighted to report there were 26 excellent exhibits presented by 19 different exhibitors covering 21 tables totaling 61 cases. Wow! Thanks to all exhibitors who made this possible. Thanks to all volunteers who wore yellow VNA shirts, who guarded and made safe the exhibit area, bourse floor, parking lots, and who answered many questions. Exhibits Chairman Billy Hoovler passed away in June 2022 and he is dearly missed. We dedicate the VNA People's Choice Award in honor of Billy Hoovler, who won this award last year for his Morgan Dollar Grading Set exhibit and who visited many VNA coin clubs in years past to promote convention exhibits.

The Exhibits Committee seeks new members who should contact any VNA officer to volunteer. Special thanks to Parry Bragg and Moore Goldman who also visited VNA coin clubs to promote convention exhibits. We hope local coin clubs enjoy these visits because as Arnold Schwarzenegger says, "We'll be 'bock."

Winners of VNA awards for Exhibits at the 2022 VNA Convention include:

- The Jack Hepler Excellence in Exhibiting Award – Individual
  - Simcha Kuritzky won 1st Place for Boy for Sale? Middle Eastern Ingots for the Redemption of the Firstborn Son.
  - Richard Jones won 2nd Place for Paper Money of the Roanoke Area 1775 – 1865
  - Simcha Kuritzky won 3rd Place for Numismatic Polygons
- Youth Award
  - Mikey Price won 1st Place for The Gold Standard
- Club Award
  - The Culpeper Coin Club won 1st Place for Half Dime Bust Head Transition to Seated

Collecting “CC” Coins by Tom Kays

Congress authorized a new branch mint out West in 1863, to serve the largest silver strike in North American history, the Comstock Lode discovered in 1859. They sought to alleviate the need to transport tons of precious metal ore with no direct route from the Lake Tahoe region, across 172 statute miles, past 7000 feet tall Rocky Mountain peaks, through bandit territory, all the way to the Pacific coast for processing at the San Francisco Mint. Groundbreaking ceremonies at Carson City took place in September 1866, just eight years after the town was founded, five years after the formation of the Nevada Territory, and two years after Nevada statehood. A six-ton, Morgan & Orr steam-powered coin press (Coin Press #1) from Philadelphia arrived at Carson City in 1868. The construction of a Renaissance-revival sandstone mint building was completed in December 1869. The Carson City Mint opened for business under President Ulysses Grant in January 1870, and struck its first coin, a Seated Liberty Dollar with the new “CC” mint mark in February 1870. The Virginia & Truckee Railroad connected Carson City with the Transcontinental railroad at Reno in 1872 and by 1874, thirty-six trains a day were passing through Carson City during the peak production of the Comstock Mines.

Carson City Mint – National Archives

The Carson City Mint would go on to strike fifty-seven different issues of gold coins including double eagle, eagle, and half eagle denominations, and fifty different issues of silver coins including Trade Dollars, Seated Liberty Dollars, Morgan Dollars, and Seated Liberty Half Dollars, Quarter Dollars, Twenty-Cent Pieces and Dimes. The rarest issue from Carson City is the 1873-CC “No Arrows” dime of which only one is known. The most common issue is the 1884-CC Morgan dollar.

Coin Press #1 was used for larger coins and could originally produce 200 tons of pressure, cycling to strike one hundred silver dollars a minute. Additional presses began operation at Carson City in 1875 and 1876 to increase the volume of coining operations dramatically, making “CC” mint marked dimes, twenty-cent pieces, quarters and half dollars of 1875 obtainable and collectible today. Coin Press #1 broke in 1878 but was repaired locally at the shops of the Virginia Truckee Railroad. Between 1870 and 1885 and again from 1889 to 1893 after a four-year “political hiatus” under President Grover Cleveland, the Carson City Mint struck about $50 million dollars face value in coin.

Coining operations ceased in 1893 and Carson City’s official U.S. Mint status was revoked in 1899, to become a U.S. Assay Office, as the Comstock Lode tapped out. The Carson City Assay Office closed in 1933. Coin Press #1 was sent back to the Philadelphia Mint in 1899, was later electrified, and then pressed into service at the San Francisco Mint in the 1950s to make “S” mint silver coins until 1955, and then moved to the Denver Mint to alleviate the coin shortage of 1965-1967 by striking 118 million clad coins (all without “D” mint mark). Coin Press #1 retired to the Nevada State Museum at Carson City only to make Nevada Bicentennial medals and is still used today to strike silver rounds sold in the Museum gift shop. The Museum is located at 600 North Carson Street in Carson City, Nevada and is open from 8:30 AM – 4:30 PM on Wednesdays through Sundays. The history of Coin Press #1 is available from the Museum as a video on You Tube.

Many silver dollars were melted under the Pittman Act of 1918. Many more silver dollars were worn down after years of use in Las Vegas slot machines. Redemption of silver certificates (currency) for silver coins ended in 1964 with redemption only in bullion for a short while after 1964. No U. S. silver coins were being minted for circulation after 1970, when the Federal Reserve discovered a stockpile of about three million silver dollars remained, in their original $1000 cloth bags, with most from the Carson City Mint. These included 962 bags of 1884-CC dollars (about 84% of all produced), most still in uncirculated condition. About 30 bags of peace dollars were in the hoard. The Government could have ordered these dollars melted. Instead, they were transported to the West Point Silver Bullion Depository and sorted into five categories: A) about two million “Uncirculated - Carson City,” B) 690 thousand, “Mixed - Carson City,” C) 100 thousand “Circulated - Carson City,” D) 90 thousand “Circulated – Not Carson City,” and E) “Not Saleable” (Reject) lots. “The Great Silver Sale” began in 1972. The U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) auctioned off to the public, the first unit of approximately 1.7 million Uncirculated 1882/1883/1884 CC Morgan dollars, advertised as being from the “Old West.” These uncirculated dollars in black plastic, GSA Holders with Certificates of Authenticity sold by mail for minimum bids of $30 each for common 1882-CC, 1883-CC and 1884-CC dates. “The Coins Jesse James Never Got” sale followed to unload at a $60 each minimum bid, the scarcer 1880-CC, 1881-CC and 1885-CC dates, of which little more than one hundred bags, each were found. Other mixed dates from 1878-CC, 1890-CC and 1891-CC and about 4000 of the rare date 1879-CC were sold, along with many coins grading below uncirculated condition, often with substantial bag marks, unattractive toning, or damage for minimum bids as low as $15 each. It took seven auctions and a substantial rise in silver bullion prices in 1980 to finally clean out the last silver dollars from Government vaults, raising $100 million dollars in total, for $3 million dollars face value.

CARSON CITY GSA MORGAN DOLLARS

The Nevada State Museum at Carson City recently celebrated the sesquicentennial of the issue of the first “CC” mint coin in February 2020 and the U. S. Mint Centennial of the last Morgan Dollar with reissue of 173 thousand, uncirculated 2021 Morgan dollars with “CC privy mark.” Obtaining a single GSA “CC” Dollar, an original five-coin “silver denomination set,” or seven-coin “silver type set” with all three types of dollar (or perhaps the full ten-coin denomination set with gold) featuring “CC” mint marks is a fine and realistic numismatic goal to achieve. Say “Sí, Sí,” to stacking “CC” silver!

PADUCAH, KENTUCKY DEPRESSION SCRIP

David E. Schenkman

Depression scrip was a by-product of the October 1929 stock market crash and the Great Depression that followed it. On March 6, 1933, following three years of bank failures numbering in the thousands, President Franklin Roosevelt issued a proclamation to suspend all banking transactions. According to the Federal Reserve History web site, the proclamation stated that “no such banking institution or branch shall pay out, export, earmark, or permit the withdrawal or transfer in any manner or by any device whatsoever, of any gold or silver coin or bullion or currency or take any other action which might facilitate the hoarding thereof; nor shall any such banking institution or branch pay out deposits, make loans or discounts, deal in foreign exchange, transfer credits from the United States to any place abroad, or transact any other banking business whatsoever.”

To alleviate the shortage of official currency resulting from bank failures, many types of emergency substitutes were issued throughout the country by cities, counties, clearing house associations, and numerous types of private businesses. They are catalogued in The Standard Catalog of Depression Scrip of the United States, a 318-page reference written by Ralph A. Mitchell and Neil Shafer, published in 1984 by Krause Publications. There is even a web site devoted to this unofficial money; depressionscrip.com.

This illustrated piece, dated March 15, 1933, is not listed in the Mitchell-Shafer catalog. Issued by the Paducah Box and Basket Company of Paducah, Kentucky, it promises to pay the face amount 30 days after the date of issue. As stated, it was used to pay employees. The word VOID, which is printed across the note's face, suggests that it was redeemed, or possibly printed as a sample.

In the August 15, 1905 issue of the News-Democrat, a Paducah newspaper, an article headlined IMPORTANT INDUSTRY LOCATES IN PADUCAH announced that "Paducah has captured another important manufacturing enterprise." It added that the new company, which was established with $50,000 capital stock, would be producing fruit baskets, packing boxes, and other related products. The business was built on a twenty-acre tract, with a 60x120 foot, two-story main building, a large two-story warehouse building, and various other buildings. The company was successful from the start, and in 1912 it manufactured 63,000 crates for the Warren County Strawberry Growers' Association, and 40,000 crates for another firm. Four years later there was a major setback when fire destroyed the warehouse. Fortunately, the $35,000 damage was completely covered by insurance. The business continued in operation until 1961, when it was purchased by the Dulaney Veneer Company.

Although I don't collect depression scrip, I do collect other types of obsolete notes, and I spotted this note on an Internet auction site. I looked it up in the Mitchell-Shafer reference and found that it wasn't listed. This wasn't surprising; catalogs such as this are never complete, and one of the joys of the hobby is finding previously unknown items. Depression scrip is one of those specialties that doesn't appear to be overly popular, so it is fertile ground for numismatists seeking something different to collect.

The obvious question is why the Paducah note wasn't previously known. The answer, no doubt, is found in the illustrated advertisement, which was placed in the March 22, 1933 Paducah Sun Democrat newspaper. This was only seven days after the date on my note, so obviously they only circulated briefly.

NOTICE

All payroll scrip issued by Paducah Box & Basket Co. is hereby recalled and may now be presented at The Peoples National Bank where it will be paid promptly.
